It's all a Question of Story

Thomas Berry writes, "It's all a question of story." We are in trouble just now because we do not have a good story. We are in between stories. The old story, the account of how we fit into it, is no longer effective. Yet we have not learned the new story."

The current story, that most people seem to operate in, is the Business as Usual story, where the goal is to maximize profits, at the expense of people and the planet. Faster, Busy and More are common mantras in this linear, power-over, extraction-based system built on the fallacy of unlimited growth.

Many scientists, scholars, and others waking up from the delusions of consumer-driven society often put much of their energy into detailing how Business as Usual is leading to the Great

Unraveling, from dire predictions about the consequences of climate change to the economic and political instability that will inevitably follow. While it is crucial to detail the likely effects of our unsustainable way of life, when the story ends here, it often causes people to shut down, or dwell in dystopian scenarios. There are entire sections of bookstores and video streaming services devoted to dystopian novels and series.

Rev. Deborah Johnson and other spiritual leaders have observed that “Pain pushes, until vision pulls.” It seems that our collective pain is pushing us towards telling the story of the Great Unraveling, but what if we redirected that energy and used our moral imagination to tell the stories of the Great Turning as we turn from an industrial growth society to a life-sustaining society?

What if these utopian visions permeated our culture as much as, or more than, stories like The Handmaid’s Tale or The Hunger Games?

If Einstein is correct, and our imagination is a preview of life’s coming attractions, then let’s tell a new story, a story of a sustainable community, where people are in harmony with the earth and with each other.

The Power of Strength

<https://www.unityuwm.org/ec-curriculum-strength/>

As a spiritual principle that is infinitely active in and through all creation, the Unity spiritual power of Strength is the divine idea of enduring integrity. Greater than ‘muscling’ through challenges, more than dogged persistence, Divine Strength is the divine design to endure as the integrity of Oneness and interdependence.

Unit Focus

As a spiritual principle that is infinitely active in and through all action, the Unity spiritual power of Strength is the divine idea of enduring integrity. Greater than ‘muscling’ through challenges, more than dogged persistence, Divine Strength is the divine design to endure as the integrity of Oneness and interdependence.

The Unity spiritual power of Strength goes far beyond physical ability. It includes:

- Divine Strength is a divine idea and spiritual principle active in all creation
- Divine Strength is realized in humans through the mind of the heart
- Divine Strength is the spiritual integrity of interdependent systems throughout creation
- Divine Strength is unending endurance

Unit Learning Objectives

By the end of this module learners will be able to:

- Describe their understanding of Divine STRENGTH as a divine idea lived
- Describe examples of Divine Strength working as a design in all creation.
- Identify the human role in living Divine STRENGTH as endurance to care for creation
- Integrate the spiritual principle of Divine STRENGTH as related to care for the planet by listing three spiritual practices that reveal Divine Strength in a Unity service, class, or service project.

EarthCare News

A new category called the Green Star Constellation Award has been created. Its purpose is to recognize the collective efforts of faith-based communities to work together to cultivate awareness, advocacy and care for all creation.

Any Unity or non-Unity faith-based collaborative organization, group or coalition is eligible. It must have been in existence at least two years and consist of at least three faith-based organizations that have agreed to work with one another to share information and support its individual congregation’s projects as well as hosting joint activities.

To receive the award, collaboratives must have completed at least three significant environmental activities together in the preceding calendar year.

Awards will be announced in 2025. Here is the proposed certificate:

Green Star Constellation Award

Stars are symbols of leadership, guidance, protection, and trust. Throughout history, they have been a Divine symbol of hope for humanity. In recognition of their efforts to work together on behalf of Mother Earth, the Unity Worldwide Ministries EarthCare Team hereby presents the Green Star Constellation award to:

Name

This ____ day of _____, ____.

Michael L. McCord
EarthCare Team Leader

Rev. Valerie Mansfield
Acting President and CEO
Unity Worldwide Ministries

Mentoring/Collaborative Calls

Mary Gerken, a member of the EarthCare core team, hosts these calls monthly on the 4th Saturday at 12 Noon Eastern time. One of the benefits of participating in these calls is that they provide a way for you to connect with other churches, open new avenues to collaborate and share your ideas, successes, and challenges. A different topic is selected at each meeting and creative ideas are shared. Recent ideas include: “Forest or Nature bathing/ Circulation Day” in which items no longer needed are shared and given away, having native plant tours and partnering with other faith organization for speakers.

For the date and time, please email Mary, at agreatpickle@gmail.com.
